The King's Druidess
Prelude

Location: Ireland Erc Breac, King of Dalriada Druidess Chiomara Ruadh

← Children Born Circa 487 A.D.

They had two children relevant to this series. Both became immortal wizards. Their blood son was Adlin MacLomain. Without ever having met his parents, he was delivered by the Celtic Goddess, Brigit, to the Scottish Highlands where he eventually settled in the area now known as Argyll. Their foster daughter was Iosbail. When young, she left Ireland and traveled through Europe until eventually settling in the lowlands of Scotland where she began Clan Broun. An area on the North Sea now known at East Lothian. While this family tree will touch briefly on Iosbail's lineage, it mainly follows Adlin's offspring.

Known Descendants and Their Futuristic Lasses

There were three couples in the Original MacLomain Series who gave birth to the children of the Next Generation who then birthed those that became the heroes in the Later Years. This document includes three trees. One for each of the original couples.

Fate's Monolith

Book One

Though this couple met in Scotland in 1199, due to time travel to the future they lost 11 years. Therefore, they were still the same age when they returned to Scotland in 1210 that they were when they left.

Book Two

Ferchar MacLomain (Born C. 1187) Caitlin (Seavey) Broun (Born C. 1981)

Though Logan was born well after Cassie, because he spent a great deal of time growing up in medieval Scotland, he is now a few years older than her. After all, time goes by much faster in the past. Hence though he was born of an original MacLomain couple and considered one of The Next Generation, he is the same age as the men in the Later Years.
